² By virtue of section 212(5) of the Education Act 2002, “foundation schools” and “voluntary aided schools” have the meaning given to them in the School Standards and Framework Act 1998.
